M. Constant, the French Minister to Chins. who is about to be succeeded at Peking by M. LEMAIRE, was appointed apparently for the express purpose of negotiating a Commercial Treaty, with the Chinese Government in place of that concluded on the 25th April, 1886, by M. Cogosdan. The Peking correspondent of our Shanghai morning contemporary states that it is rumoured there The MAPS and PLANS have been mostly that the new treaty was signed on the 29th June last and that its terms are satisfactory and honourable to both contracting parties. from the North. There must have been some give and take in the negotiations, and we shall be surprised if, in this particular, the concession was not made on the French side. The Marquis Tsens and the Viceroy of Chihli are alike inclined to insist upon the right of China to despatch Rapresentatives to all countries to which Chinese subjects resort for purposes of trade or employment. > ILLEGAL OCCUPATION OF RECLAIM-ED LAND IN KWANGTUNG.

We stated yesterday that the Viceroy of Canton had gained credit with the native Press for exposing and punishing certain gentry who had been appropriating reclaimed lands. The following memorial by the Viceroy, which we take from the Daily News translations from the Peking Gazette, explains the circumstances:-The Governor-General and Governor at Cauton ask for authority to strip a provincial graduate of his degree preparatory to placing him on his trial for having refused to pay the land tax on some reclaimed beach land of which he and his family had retained illegal occupation for over twenty years. By a recent Docree the Canton authorities were directed to ascertain and report the amount of this kind of land that had been reclaimed and assessed for taxation, and they were to take steps to prevent the evasion of the tax. From a report which has been received from the Beach Lands Department it appears that Wang Pao-chên is in illegal possession of an alluvial flat which was formed by accretions in the early part of the reign of Tao Knang, and that both his father and his grand-father had held it in the same way. In 1866, owing to a dispute with a neighbour who prepared a claim to part of the land, a member of the Wang family reported the Morrison had told the boy when Mr. Jackson amount of land reclaimed as 1,060 more, but payment of the tax was subsequently refused at a time when the period for which it was exempt master returned. Mr. Morrison in the course of from taxation had long before expired. A surhis evidence denied that he ever said so to the vey disclosed the fact that the amount of land reported did not exceed a third of what had actually been brought under cultivation. Though they had made themselves liable not only to the forfeiture of the land but for payment for its usufruct for a long course of years, both Wang and his father simply ignored the matter, and continued in possession in spite of all the writs that were served upon them. Certain other members of the Wang family were liable for a sum of Tls. 18,000, advanced for reclaiming land, but owing to the pernicious were recovered after much pressure. Wang Pacfault of Mr. Lang that these goods were seized, chase in 1880 the post of Senior Secretary in the and it would be very hard on him to make him bear the costs. As to the bailiff paying the costs. that is out of the question. He has, as I before lists bear testimony to the integrity of the Cansaid, made a mistake in judgment, but the rooms ton gentry who as a body offer a fine example to there are some who take advantage of their position to oppress the weak and set the law at defigure. Conduct of this king in the past has too often been passed over without attracting any direct notice from the authorities. The Governor-General, for his part, can say that he has always treated deserving members of the gentry with studied courtesy, but he has never hesitated to expose those of their number who have domineered over the people. As proof of this statement, he would refer to the cases which he has dealt with in the Hsiang Shan, Shun Tê, Nan Hai, and Hsin Hui districts. He is well aware that his action has given rise to much ill-feeling against him, and has caused unfounded reports to be industriously circulated by people who are waiting for an opportunity to trip him up, but however unpleasant the duty may he, he will gladly face the storm of obloquy for the sake of eript: Let Wang Pao-chên be temporarily pen and ink, and one dollar and a few cents, and degraded and placed on his trial. The Board concerned will take note.

A good story is told of a Yankee who went for the first time to a bowling alley, and kept firing away at the pins to the imminent peril of the boy, who, so far from having anything to do in "setting up" the pins, was actively at work in an endeavour to avoid the ball of the player, which rattled on all sides of the pins without touching them. At length the fellow, seeing

The Courier of the 14th instant says:—The ri vers Yangthze and Han, and the Tangting and Poyang Lakes have overflowed, and there is an immense ocean of water as far as the eye can reach. Hankow, Kinking and Wuhu are all fluided. Chinkiang has not yet suffered. The water on the old cricket ground at Hankow is seven or eight feet deep and the populace are living buddled together in hut on the city wall. The water mark the other day registered 47 feet, while three months ago it was down to 7 feet 10 inches. During the two days prior to our advices the water rose six inches, and a few inches more will enable residents in the Concession to do their visiting in boats. Navigation on the Yangtsza is exceedingly difficult. Still steamers make good time. It is a continuous view of water all the way down from Hankow to below Wuhn, with the tops of tree sticking up here and there. The majority of the houses have either been removed or are submerged, only the roofs of a few being visible, and the indige and homp crops, etc., etc., are all destroyed and great distress must eusne. At Kinkiang a raised platform has been built the entire length of the Bund, and the back streets are almost impassable. Where the immense volume of water comes from is a mystery to all, the present floods covering a greater area than has been known to be submerged since 1870 when the register at Hankow showed 50 feet 6 inches.

On the 13th instant a man named Becker, supposed to be a Dutchman, went on board the Nivypo, booked for Hongkong. He had apparently been drinking about the Settlement and was given a passage to the Colony by Mr. Jantzen, the Consul for the Netherlands. Shortly after eight o'clock his dead body was found lying in his bunk. The remains were removed to the Mortuary in the Shantung Road, and Mr. Jantzen was communicated with, but as there were no papers, or any kind of proof of the nationality of the deceased, Mr. Jantzen could not hold an inquest. A post-mortem examination was made on the body on the 14th by Dr. Maeleod who found that death was caused by sunstroke. It would seem that the deceased was a seaman and had been discharged at Yokohama. On the 13th instant an affair occurred between some Chinese, in which two persons were stabwhed, one fatally, and the other slightly. It appears that a carpenter named Poo Yuan Sun went to the house 141, Hongkong Road, about some $25 which he alleged the occupant, Chu Tuesday. Chee Tzung, owed him. Some time ago the claim was settled in the latter's favour in the Mixed Court, but Poo was not satisfied. Without a word of warning he drew a long formidable-look ing knife and plunged it into Chu's body. The latter's wife tried to ward off a second blow, and was stabbed berself in the back. The assailant then stabbed Chu again is the stomach, and ran out of the house, pursued by a large crowd, among them being native Sorgeant No. 141, who succeeded in capturing the ruffian. He was taken Convention. to the Central Police Station. The injured man died yesterday evening in Shantung Road Hos-The woman was not seriously injured .- $N.\ C.\ Daily\ News.$

Finally he threw up his position in the army, deserted his young wife and for years nothing was heard of him. At last news came to the poor woman that the worthless wretch was dead, and after a time she married another officer and they moved out to his station at one of the far Western posts. In the meantime it seems that her first hasband was not dead, but after years of debauchery and wandering, reformed. He then began to made inquiries for the woman he had deserted. Nothing was known of her, and after a long and fruitless search he was forced to the conclusion that she had given up the struggle. He came to Washington, where, through the assistance of some influential friends, he procured an appointment in the army. Then believing himself free he married again and took his wife to the frontier post to which he was ordered-the same at which his first wife was living. The meeting, the shock of mutual recognition, the deep shame of the terrible situation, is something to which no pen can do justice. What were they to do? The question has not yet reached a satisfactory settlement.
